Therefore, covalent bonding is found in nonmetallic elements and in nonmetallic compounds. Covalent bonds are intramolecular forces; that is, they are inside the molecule and hold the atoms together to make the molecule. Covalent bonds are strong bonds and it is difficult and requires a lot of energy to break a molecule apart into its atoms.

The covalent bonding portion starts by showing students how Cl and Cl bond when they come in contact with one another to share unpaired electrons. This is followed by showing oxygen bonding to another oxygen with a double bond with two bonding pairs of electrons. The notes end with a summary of ionic, covalent and metallic bonds.
